DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on February 3, 2004 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 59 and 60 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Stecklein et al.

Stecklein et al teaches a belt which has ribs having a curved upper surface (either 24 or 28) wherein the ribs on each side of the reinforcement material (18,20 or 26) are transverse to one another. The ribs 24 are transverse to ribs 28 on the other side of the belt. Refer to Figure 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1772

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 59 and 60 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Stanger et al.

Stanger et al teaches a belt wherein ribs on opposite sides are transverse to one another. Refer to Figure 14 showing ribs 209 that are transverse to ribs 216 on the other side of the belt. Refer to column 7, line 23 through column 8, line 31.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1-11 and 34-58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stanger et al.

Stanger et al teaches the invention substantially as claimed wherein the ribs on both sides of a belt can be made of Teflon®. The ribs are on both sides of the belt. See 35 USC 102 rejection above. Stanger et al does fail to specifically disclose that the ribs, on either or both sides, are between .02 and .05 inches high. Refer to Figure 14 along with column 7, line 23 through column 8, line 31.

Art Unit: 1772

However, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to Stanger et al to form the ribs within the height recited, or of any height desired, for the purpose of imparting the desired gripping force needed for a particular application motivated by the fact that a change in size is generally recognized as being within ordinary skill in the art. Stanger et al disclose that the ribs can be formed in any suitable shape (column 8, lines 13-15). The claims drawn to the coating being silicon are deemed obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art since this would only involve a substitution of one anti-stick material for another.

The other art cited by the examiner show various belts having ribs on both sides.

The references A40 and A41 have not been considered by the examiner since they are not dated as required (see MPEP section 609, 37CFR1.98(b)(5)).
